The Healing Power Of Light Energy

Starlight Infrared saunas utilize the benefits of energy, heat & light to provide warmth, relaxation, detoxification, pain relief from inflammation and many other common sense health benefits...

Far Infrared radiant (FIR) heat is simply a form of naturally occurring energy that heats objects by direct light conversion which warms objects without warming the air around it. These rays penetrate into our bodies because of the specific wavelength of 5 to 14 microns range which best matches our bodies wavelength. The warmth of the sun and warmth generated when you rub your hands are forms of Far Infrared heat. Our bodies collect it and also give it off. Far Infrared should not be confused with Ultraviolet rays that cause sunburn and skin damage. "Far" means that the waves measured are in the FAR range of the light spectrum and actually have no visible light. Our pure zirconium ceramic emitters such as those in Health Cabin Saunas provide the conversion of energy into natural heat that provides penetrating warmth & a range of health benefits

WHAT IS FAR INFRARED

Far Infrared radiant (FIR) heat is simply a form of naturally occurring energy that heats objects by direct light conversion which warms objects without warming the air around it. These rays penetrate into our bodies because of the specific wavelength of 5 to 14 microns, the wavelength that best matches the measurement of our bodies Far Infrared wavelengths. The warmth of the sun and warmth generated when you rub your hands are forms of Far Infrared heat. Our bodies collect it and also give it off. Far Infrared should not be confused with Ultraviolet rays that cause sunburn and skin damage. "Far" means that the waves measured are in the FAR range of the light spectrum and actually have no visible light. Our pure zirconium ceramic emitters such as those in Health Cabin Saunas provide the conversion of energy into natural heat that provides penetrating warmth and a range of health benefits.

The deep warming of your blood vessels encourages them to dilate, or open up, which increases both the oxygen and circulation to your entire body. This is known among experts to be very healing and helps to put your blood pressure in balance. NASA scientists have also shown that our Far Infrared units help to increase blood flow from 5 to 7 quarts to up to 13 quarts per minute. Our True Far Infrared type of heat will also help with those who suffer from light deprivation in the winter and is the same heat used in hospital incubators to keep premature babies warm.

Far Infrared is not only totally safe but the best option for life long health and well being. Today many health care professionals around the world are using our Far Infrared technology to treat patients for a wide variety of ailments and diseases. Far Infrared also penetrate the muscles and operate at a lower temperature which allows for a longer more comfortable time in the unit.

The Industry's Founding Original
Zirconia Ceramic™
Far-Infrared Heater Element

The Foundation Of Far-Infrared Technology

By 1965 Japanese researchers obtained international patents on the original Zirconia Ceramic Far-Infrared Heater. It was the first refined Infrared Heater to produce Far-Infrared Rays. This Zirconia Ceramic Heater was used to conduct the original medical research that proved the capabilities and effectiveness of using Far-Infrared energy.

Our company first gained exclusive rights to use the Zirconia Ceramic™ Heater for our products in 1981 after Japan opened for a distribution channel following 35 successful years of medical use. This new Far-Infrared technology was introduced to the United States via the Health Cabin Sauna in 1983 and are now used by health conscious people and recommended by Health Care Professionals World Wide.

Featured Characteristics Of Zirconia Ceramic™

The radiating area becomes very large with its reflection properties when compared to a wire lamp or most other type of heaters. This why we can out perform the competition

Its surface radiation was the most effective and gave a wide range of surface heat when used at a distance of at least 4 inches away.

The Zirconia Ceramic™ emitter offers fast heating, with only 7 minutes needed to reach its set temperature. That is at least 2 times faster than the competition.

The Zirconia Ceramic™ emitters heat the human body most evenly and gently compared to any other technology available on the market today.
